REPORT NO.

1. There is an estimated two to three thousand Hungarians in Yugoslavia, approximately two hundred of which are located in a camp in the village Lukavci, at a distance of four kilometers southwest of Ljutomer. Four hundred Hungarians are reported to be working in the oil fields of Donja Lendava, while the remainder are employed with various firms or enterprises in Slovenia. The majority of Hungarians in Yugoslavia are intellectuals.
2. Most of the refugees have crossed the Hungarian-Yugoslav boundary at Prekomurje, where assistance has allegedly been extended to them by the Yugoslav Government.
